

Southern Nevada's Water Supply is in Your Hands

The Southern Nevada Water Authority knows that our economy—and Southern Nevadans' jobs—depends upon a reliable water supply. As the agency responsible for managing our community's water resources, making sure that supply remains reliable is an important part of our mission.

We're doing our part by bringing new supplies such as Nevada's unused groundwater to our community. But just bringing on additional supplies isn't enough. We must use this water responsibly.

What can you do to help? Support the Authority's efforts to conserve our water resources by following the SNWA's watering schedule and other water-saving measures.

For additional information about water conservation and the SNWA's efforts to ensure our community's sustainability, visit snwa.com.

Southern Nevada
Water Authority